A large crowd from here attended the Mardi Gras dologs in Salem Monday night; one young man got too near the monkey's cage and came home with a black eye. This coloring matter, however, will not interfere with the football game here Saturday afternoon.

Clifford Davis and Chas. Stouffer were in Canton on Sunday last seeing the football game between the Panhandle cam of Columbus and the Canton Indians, in which the former scored 84 to the Indians 6. It is said to have been a fleroe game with knocked out Indians calling for water all over the gridiron.

A man whom we will call Brown claiming to have lived here 40 years ago, was in town Monday inquiring for his sweetheart. He said they used to play in Rev. Wagoner's orchard and that the promised to be his bride whenever he became possessed of $10,000. He now claims to be worth several times that amount and came here to claim his former love, but failed to locate her. He

Walter Adams, a member of Salem Iron Co. and a friend of W. D. McKeef-rey, was elected Mayor of Lectonia on Tuesday, and Edward Boyle was re-elected marshal of the same village. Thomas Dalrympie was elected marshal of this village by a cut majority, yet large enough to be proud of. Alfred Piller, in the B. & O. railroad service out of Palnesville, and Miss Helen Walker were married at the home of the bride's parents in West Farmington at high noon Saturday by Rev. W. K. Yingling of the Methodist church. The happy couple came here the same evening and spent Sunday at the home of the groom's mother west of town, receiving congratulations and well wishes from his many friends here. While here they were joined by his brother, Eugene Piller, and family of Youngstown. These two young men left here a few years ago before reaching their majority and are now married and in comfortable circumstances with a brilliant future before them.

Tuesday's election passed off quietly in this village, some of the candidates having no opposition. The second pre-cinct of Green township voted in Gilbert's store where 42 votes were polled. The north precinct of this village voted in Mrs. Ballantine's room where 48 votes were registered. The south pre-cinct of this village voted in the coun-cil chamber where 148 votes were cast. Chas. ....Rev. D. L. Clark Address .. The fantastic parade for Hallowe'en, suggested in these columns last week, came off Saturday night and was the most popular and taking event of the year. It is remarkable how much can be accomplished on such short notice. It was announced in school Friday afternoon by Supt. Freed that all who desired to join in the parade led by Mayor Moore and the concert band should report upon the lawn at the Mayor's office at 7:30 Saturday night About 150 persons, old and young, were masked and three times that number marched behind. Aside from the band torches, the only light given out was about 10,000 kilowats of moonshine, for old Luna was full that night. Mayor Moore addressed the crowd before start-ing saying that this was given as a little harmless amusement, and he wanted everyone to enjoy themselves to the fullest, but not to destroy property. The line of march was west along Union street to Stumptown, thence along Water street to Main, thence west to the Lutheran parsonage where the ladies were giving a pumpkin ple and Hallowe'en supper. Everybody appeared happy and just tired enough to quiet-Hallowe'en supper. Everybody appeared happy and just tired enough to quietly retire for the night. The event worked well and should be repeated next year upon a still larger scale. Throwing corn against windows may amuse infants, and destroying property is not only cowardly but should not be solorated.

Boyer's parents, Sunday.

If you are indifferent in visiting the school and assisting your children in the evening's preparation of the lessons don't blame the teacher if your children do not advance in education as rapidly as others, for their lack of interest is largely due to your indifference. The question of road improvement should interest every citizen of the west precinct. If no more effort is put forth to improve the roads than in the past, another year will roll around with nothanother year will roll around with nothing done and a great howl will go up that ithe east precinct has reaped, or will reap, the benefit of the general taxation, and all because of the indifference of our citizens of the west precinct.

Mr. Taxpayer, it is your business to see that the funds expended be equalized in the two precincts, and you should assert the two precincts, and you should assert your rights in the interest of the public welfare until we have an equal share with the east precinct. We believe the trustees are men of good judgment and will exercise great care in the selection of roads most traveled, yet they need the unsel, advice and encouragement of the citizens of the west precinct and when the spring months come let the good work go on. It is yours for the asking.
